VETERAN FLAG PLACEMENT

Mayor Carlo DeMaria and the Office of Veterans Services would like to thank the many volunteers who took part in the recent veteran flag placement events. Families, local Boy Scout troops, local officials, and City employees came together to place flags on veterans graves at the Glenwood and Woodlawn cemeteries in preparation for Memorial Day.

"I would like to extend my appreciation for the help the City received in placing flags for Memorial Day this year," states Mayor DeMaria, "On both days we had an outstanding turnout of community members who not only volunteered their time, but also paid their respects to those servicemen and women who gave so much to uphold our democratic ideals of liberty and peace."

Exelon files with fed's plan to keep some generators operating

By Seth Daniel

After working through a process with ISO New England over the last two months, Exelon Generation and ISO filed a proposal with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) that would keep two Mystic Station generators going after 2022 – for a price.

Exelon, which operates Mystic Station, surprisingly filed in March with FERC to retire the entire power plant – a plant that isn't that old in comparison to the lifespan of such facilities.

This week, the company said they had been working with ISO since April, when ISO asked them to keep Mystic 8 and 9 open to preserve electric reliability. Exelon said that started a process that resulted in the filing on May 16.

The result, if approved, is that Exelon would get a new $1 or less per month fee from customers in order to defray the costs of keeping the critical electrical facility open.

"If approved by FERC, both the ISO-NE and Exelon Generation filings will result in Exelon Generation recovering from regional customers the costs of operating the plant and associated liquefied natural gas facility in exchange for

School Committee approves $76 million educational budget for FY '19

By Joseph Domelowicz Jr.

A new school budget approved by the School Committee will likely result in the cutting of 98 positions unless additional funding becomes available – despite the fact that the City has given over and above by more than $6 million what is required as a minimum by the state.

The Everett School Committee voted on Monday night to approve a fiscal 2019 spending plan of $76,680,955 for the upcoming 2019 fiscal year, not including $4,700,000 for Special Education transportation costs.

With the SPED transportation figure the total budget for schools would be $81,380,955.

Despite the approval of the budget by the School Committee Monday night, Assistant Superintendent of Schools Charles Obremski noted that without additional funding becoming available, the schools will likely lose 98 positions, currently not covered in the proposed bottom-line budget.

Everett firefighter pursuing state organizational office

By Seth Daniel

When Everett Fire Union President Craig Hardy isn't on duty these days, he often can be found in Worcester, Falmouth, or any of several other outposts throughout the state.

That's because the popular firefighter (and hockey phenom) is running for statewide office in the Professional Firefighters of Massachusetts (PFFM) organization – mounting a statewide campaign for one of two Legislative Agents in the powerful PFFM.

"If elected, this would be good for Everett and good for our department," he said. "I'd be representing 12,000 firefighters from across the state. There are 220 locals in eight districts, and I'm running for one of the two Legislative Agent seats... Firefighting is about helping people, and this is, too, except it's specifically helping other firefighters, which I would enjoy."

Essentially, Hardy would be a lobbyist for all firefighters in the state, finding his way to Beacon Hill to lobby for firefighter benefits. He said that would particularly be to keep the pension and health care that are critical for firefighters who respond to dangerous and unhealthy – sometimes toxic – situations.

"The most important things to fight for are our retirement and our health care," he said. "If I can add something else to that, it would be a win, but keeping what we have is very important."

Hardy ran for the position last year and lost by a slim 19 votes, but he was running against an established incumbent. Now, the position is an open seat and he faces one challenger from Leominster.

The vote is on June 13.

Hardy said he got involved in the PFFM when he was first elected union president in Everett 11 years ago. He said the other firefighters from around

Encore's off-site construction on speedy timetable, to finish this fall

By Seth Daniel

One can't help but marvel at the 20-plus story casino tower and resort coming to life on Lower Broadway while passing by, but it will likely be the massive amounts of road construction that they will see this summer as the casino puts the pedal to the metal to get off-site transportation projects completed – including a total revamp of Lower Broadway.

For decades, if not generations, the stretch connecting Everett to Boston has been an industrial graveyard, but Lower Broadway and several other locations will be the epicenter of a traffic revival this summer – with all intentions of completing the enormous amounts of work by November.

"Lower Broadway has started and there will be noticeable changes starting next week, with it really changing by September," said Al Carrier of Wynn Design and Development. "We have to get all of this done this construction season. The push is to get it done this construction season because we have to have a lot of reviews and everything has to be accepted before we can open. We want to use the spring of 2019 for fallback items, little things. We don't want to do any major paving in 2019, so we really want to get it done."

That means things are going to be very hectic on Lower Broadway, Sweetser Circle, Santilli Circle, Wellington Circle in Medford, Sullivan Square in Charlestown, and to an extent, two locations in an agreement by Exelon Generation to give back to consumers all the capacity and energy revenues that it receives through plant operations over the two-year period," read a statement from the company. "In addition, customers will receive credits for third-party gas sales during this period. Over the last 15 years, ISO-

NE has used a similar process to keep plants in operation to preserve electric reliability on multiple occasions."

The total costs of operating Mystic 8 and 9 off-set by revenues cannot be calculated at this time, the company said, because energy prices and, in turn, plant revenues will depend upon the weather in June 2022 and beyond. However, even assuming no energy revenues, the cost to operate the facilities is expected to be less than a $1 per month for the average residential customer. The actual amount that the average customer will pay after offsetting energy revenues will be considerably less.

The Exelon Mystic Station plant on Lower Broadway announced late last week that it had submitted a filing with the fed's to keep some of the plant open past 2022. In exchange, the company asked to be able to collect a monthly fee from electricity customers.

day night, Obremski said the proposed budget is in line with the funding proposed in Mayor Carlo DeMaria's FY 2019 budget for the City of Everett, including $6.5 million in spending over the state's mandatory minimum contribution of $28,814,865.

Obremski also said the proposed budget includes no raises for teachers or other employees of the school system and noted that the School Department is currently in contract negotiations with the teacher's union.

According to the FY 2019 School Budget presentation made by the school administration to the Committee, the budget is reflective of the city's contribution of $35,314,865 and state Chapter 70 aid for education in the amount of $66,440,961, minus the city's chargebacks for employee healthcare, benefits and other costs, which total $25,074,871.

Other costs charged to the schools by the city include usage fees for the Everett Memorial Stadium, Board of Health costs, and a percentage of administration costs (40.8%) associated with the Auditor, Budget, Treasurer, Purchasing and Personnel offices. It also includes costs of insuring all school buildings and the costs associated with having School Resource officers in the Everett schools.

the state helped him to learn the ropes and become more effective at representing his local.

"I got involved with them after getting elected president because I really didn't know how to be president," he said. "They had monthly meetings, and I started attending and there were guys I sat with there who were great mentors to me...I just enjoyed it and have a knack for talking with people."

Hardy was elected union president in Everett in December for a two-year term and will continue to serve in that capacity even if elected to the PPFM.

Encore soil, dredging complete with $68 million price tag – some $38 million more than committed

Staff Report

After moving nearly a million tons of soil and sediment on land and water for more than 18 months – and spending in excess of $68 million in private funds – Encore Boston Harbor announced that it has completed final remediation and cleanup work on the 33-acre site.

The final cost is $38 million more than the $30 million amount previously estimated for site cleanup. An additional $14 million will be spent on landscaping and beautifying the six-acre Encore Harborwalk Park in front of the resort.

The increased price tag for land cleanup has increased the overall cost of Encore Boston Harbor to $2.5 billion, up from $2.4 billion. The higher site cleanup cost is primarily attributed to increased quality measures that were undertaken once work started. The addition of restaurants and change in ballroom size, both previously announced, also contributed to the cost increase.

"You can't put a price tag on turning back the clock and unlocking a spectacular waterfront park that will bring beauty and enjoyment for generations to come," said Robert DeSalvio, president of Encore Boston Harbor. "At every point of our constantly evolving cleanup process, when a decision needed to be made, we went with the option that delivered the best quality and most beautiful outcome."

The Encore Boston Harbor resort sits on the Mystic River in Everett, overlooking the downtown Boston skyline. Several chemical companies were housed on the land from 1868 to 1983, rendering the urban Mystic River waterfront in Everett inaccessible to the public for more than 100 years.

"This is a great day for the Mystic River and those who call it home," said Elizabeth Turnbull Henry, president of the Environmental League of Massachusetts. "For decades, this river and sediment have been toxic and unwelcoming to people and nature. With the cleanup complete, we expect to see local communities, plants and wildlife flourish again."

The Mystic River Watershed Association (MyRWA) also celebrated the site cleanup.

"When Wynn Resorts arrived on the Mystic, our organization challenged the company to clean up the site and install a living shoreline," said Patrick Herron, executive director of MyRWA. "We want to be first to congratulate them and celebrate the success of this environmental cleanup. This environmental project is a win-win-win for economic development, urban parks and the environmental quality of the Mystic River. We're excited to keep going in our shared efforts to improve the Mystic River environment."

The remediation work completed by Encore Boston Harbor included the successful removal of 840,000 tons of contaminated soil from the land using 11,900 truckloads and 4,700 rail cars—enough dirt to fill Fenway Park. Another 41,000 tons of sediment was dredged from the inlet outside of Encore Boston Harbor using barges. The river bed was capped with 30,000 tons of clean sand and a 24,000 square-foot living shoreline was planted to bring the site to its original condition, facilitate the natural cleanup of the Mystic River and support the return of native fish and wildlife to the area. No public or taxpayer funds were used for the cleanup.

The Encore Boston Harbor site has a historic past that pre-dates the housing of chemical plants in the 1800s:

•More than 500 great clipper ships that sailed the world were built along the Mystic River from the 1600s through the 1800s.

•The first ship built by Europeans in Massachusetts, the Blessing of the Bay, was launched from the river's shores in 1631. Ships primarily transported timber and molasses to rum distilleries located between here and the West Indies.

•In 1774, more than 250 British troops rowed past this point to capture a nearby powder house where gunpowder was kept. This sparked a popular uprising known as the Powder Alarm.

•Less than one year later, the British traveled past the site on boats and landed a mile away in Charlestown to launch the famous Battle of Bunker Hill.

•Local writer Lydia Maria Child wrote about the Mystic River in her famous 1844 poem, "Over the River and Through the Woods." The house that is referred to in the poem still stands upstream on the river, in the City of Medford.

•In the 1861 poem "Paul Revere's Ride" by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Paul Revere rides along the banks of the Mystic River.

•The Atwood family, original owners of what would become Boston's famed Union Oyster House, used this shoreline to harvest oysters that were sold at their restaurant in the early 1800s to regulars such as American statesman Daniel Webster.

With the site remediation work complete, efforts to finalize the Encore Harborwalk are underway. The Harborwalk will sit on a six-acre park surrounding the resort and feature pedestrian and bicycle paths that link with the regional waterfront trail network, an events lawn, picnic and public viewing areas, ornate floral displays and retail and dining experiences that overlook the Mystic River.

The Harborwalk will also connect guests and employees to points across Boston Harbor via a robust water transportation system that the resort is introducing. Low-profile European-style boats will be used by Encore Boston Harbor to transport guests year-round without the need to raise area drawbridges.

Chelsea on Rt. 16.

Lower Broadway is the crown jewel of the operations, however, as engineers rush to construct a new truck route on Dexter/Robin streets that will detour trucks off of Lower Broadway.

Already, though, the timetable has been set back six weeks on that project due to Ever-source running late on a major power line project running down Dexter Street to the Mystic Station from East Boston.

"We're six weeks behind on that, but our contractors have assured us they can make up that time lost on Broadway and on the truck route," said Carrier.

LOWER BROADWAY

For Lower Broadway, the major change to the eyes will be a landscaped median strip in the middle of the road, as well as an elevated bike and pedestrian path on the southbound lane.

Functionally, the major work will be at the new entrance – where Carrier said they expect to have complete on the site by June 1. That will allow them to start working on that critical, new intersection where the casino meets the roadway.

Plans for the well-landscaped southbound lane show two dedicated turns out of the casino onto Lower Broadway. There will be one straight lane coming out to Mystic Street and two turning lanes northbound. Meanwhile, southbound on Rt. 99 will have one turning lane into the casino, two straight lanes and a left turning lane onto Mystic.

For northbound, there will be two dedicated turning lanes into the casino, one dedicated northbound lane and one northbound/right turn lane onto Mystic.

A smaller intersection just south of that at Dexter Street will feature the turnoffs northbound onto the new truck route.

Another major intersection will be at Beacham Street, which will connect directly to the service entrance by the McDonalds. Both northbound and southbound lanes will have a new dedicated turning lane to solve the backups that now exist when someone wishes to turn against the gridlock. Additionally, it is believed that the new truck route will eliminate almost all of the truck traffic turning out of Beacham Street from the industrial areas – a major source of traffic issues now.

All in all, it will result in four signalized intersections along Lower Broadway, and one major improvement will be Adaptive Signal Technology installed at the casino entrance and enabled for the entire corridor from Sweetser Circle to the North Washington Street Bridge in Charlestown/North End.

All of the signals will now be connected due to a partnership between Everett and Boston that runs a fibre line throughout the corridor and ties into an existing line for downtown Boston at the bridge.

"That's going to help a lot because all of these signals will now talk to one another," said Carrier, noting that there will also be three new traffic cameras for Boston in Sullivan Square. "They'll have eyes and connectivity, so they can tweak the dial if they need to."

At the casino entrance, Project Engineer Christine Breen said they would be using the technology to help in phasing traffic, especially during special circumstances. A mini-computer in the traffic box will be able to tell the box that traffic is building up and a change needs to be made. The computer will have the ability to move traffic at a different rate when it detects a buildup, also connecting potentially to all the other signals on the corridor to reduce gridlock and backup.

Everett and Boston do not have that technology now.

For sidewalks, along the casino site, they will be installing 12-foot sidewalks and hope to do that on the entire corridor if possible.

SWEETSER CIRCLE

On Sweetser Circle, the major work will include making things safer for pedestrians and bicyclists and channelizing traffic.

Due to it being a series of elevated bridges, there isn't really room to add new lanes to the circle as it is cost prohibitive on such bridges. However, there will be new striping and channelizing of traffic so it isn't the free-for-all that exists now.

There will be new Rapid Flashing Beacons installed at new crosswalks where children often cross to get to the Whittier School from Lower Broadway – a very dangerous intersection.

One breakthrough will be to help bicycle safety, where the state has approved a pilot configuration where a temporary bike lane will be built on the connector street between Sweetser and Santilli using street sticks.

Other improvements include 12-foot wide sidewalks and dedicated bus lanes in the circle and onto some feeder streets.

WELLINGTON CIRCLE
A lot of work in Wellington Circle in Medford – just over the Everett line – has already started.

There, they will be widening the edges of the circle, installing lane striping, putting in new overhead signs, upgrading signals and adjusting the phases/timing of lights.

ANNUAL HAITIAN ART SHOW AT THE PARLIN MEMORIAL LIBRARY

In celebration of Haitian Heritage Month, the Parlin Memorial Library hosted its annual Haitian art show on Saturday afternoon, May 19. Several artists exhibited an array of work, ranging from traditional paintings to painted cotton dresses.

Many of the images portrayed everyday life in Haiti. The show featured artists Isabella Febbo, Emmanuel Pierre, Edna Chery, A'key Peintre, Mim Legendre Desir, Nixon Leger, Roberson Joseph, Yves Rigaud, Fabrice Dorante, and Sylvester Telfort.

Haitian artist Roberson Joseph was proud to display several of his colorful paintings depicting life in Haiti.

Guerline Alcy was pleased to help facilitate the annual Haitian art show at the Parlin Library over the weekend, and posed with her favorite works of art.

A painting by Yves Rigaud depicted work life in Haiti.

Haitian art including paintings, dresses, and painted tea sets were on display within the Parlin Library.

Young artist Isabella Mara Febbo was proud to display some of her work at the art exhibit on Saturday.

Eleven-year-old Emmanuel Santana Pierre was the youngest artist to be featured in the show. He stood alongside his proud mother, Keecha Guerrier, at the reception.

Colorful paintings done by Haitian artists and inspired by Haitian culture were on display at the Parlin Library on Saturday.

MEMORIAL DAY IS A TIME FOR REFLECTION

The Memorial Day weekend is upon us, a three-day weekend that for most Americans marks the start of the summer season. Many will celebrate appropriately with barbecues and outdoor activities with family and friends.

However, amidst our festivities, we should not forget that Memorial Day is America's most solemn national holiday, marking our nation's tribute to those who made the Supreme Sacrifice for our country.

Memorial Day initially was observed on May 30 and was known as Decoration Day, in an era before the turn of the 20th Century, when the Northern states paid tribute to the Union soldiers -- who gave their lives to preserve America as we know it -- by decorating their graves that were a part of the landscape of every Northern community.

However, the new century soon brought with it wars, seemingly every generation, that would give new meaning to the words Supreme Sacrifice. Starting with the Spanish-American War in 1898, American blood was shed on foreign soil in WWI, WWII, Korea, Vietnam, the Gulf War, and then Iraq and Afghanistan, not to mention other far-off places around the world.

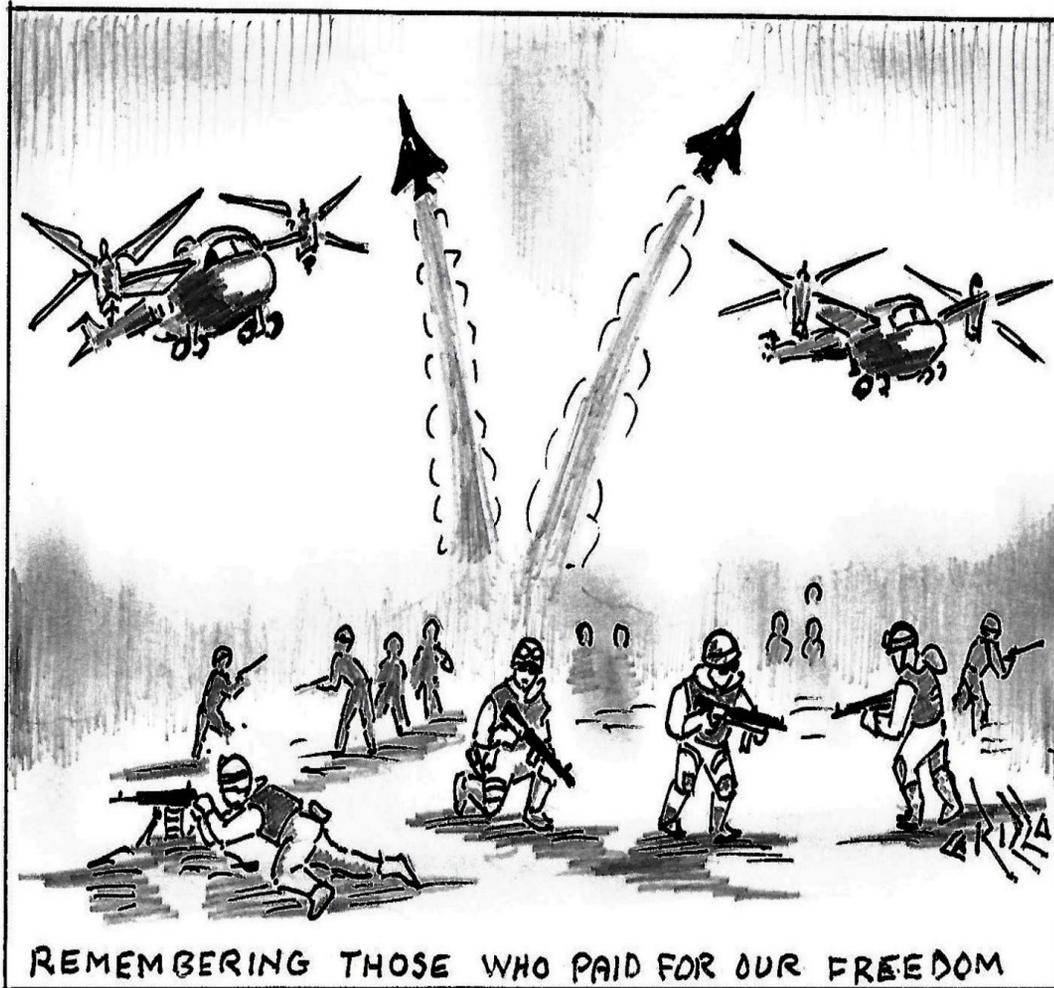

Although history has been less than kind in judging the wisdom of our policy-makers in involving us in many of these conflicts, what is beyond dispute is that in every war to which we have sent our young men and women, they have performed with courage and patriotism in the belief that they were serving the best interests of our nation.

For those of us who have been spared the horrors of war, it is difficult, if not impossible, to appreciate the sacrifices that have been made on our behalf by those who served -- and died -- while wearing the uniform.

It is these brave Americans, who gave "the last full measure," whom we honor on Memorial Day. Without their heroic efforts, we would not be writing this editorial -- nor would you be reading it.

So as we enjoy the long holiday weekend with friends and family, let each of us resolve to take a moment -- if not longer -- to thank those who gave their lives in order that we might be able to enjoy the freedoms that make America the greatest nation on earth.

GUEST OP-ED

Help end distracted driving

By Gina Fiandaca

Glancing at that new text message on your phone. Scrolling through satellite radio stations to find the right song. Adjusting your GPS to find a new route. Any of these activities momentarily takes your attention away from driving -- you are a distracted driver.

Every year, there are thousands of crashes caused by distracted driving. Many lives are lost and many more lives are dramatically changed from long-term injuries.

While many of us understand the danger of using our phones while we drive, we still do it. Today, I ask you to join me in pledging to 'Just Drive'. Make this promise to yourself, to your family members, and to your neighbors:

When you are driving, focus on driving and only on driving.

When you're a passenger, offer to help the driver. If he's driving distracted, say something.

Encourage your family members, friends, co-workers, and neighbors to drive phone-free.

Need help breaking your habits? Try putting your phone in a place where you can't reach it while driving -- the glove box, the back seat, or even the trunk. If you need to keep it nearby, turn off notifications, including any banners or noises from your messaging apps. Or, hand your phone to your passenger.

When you get in the driver's seat, set up your navigation software before you put the car into drive. If you need to update your directions or check a map, pull into a parking spot where you can safely do so. If you have a passenger, ask her to help.

Traveling with kids or pets? Keep them safe and give them your full attention by pulling into a parking spot before addressing any situations.

If you're not driving, offer to help out the person who is. Hold on to his phone or offer to handle directions for him. And if you are walking or bicycling, be sure to look up and watch for others around you.

The top priority in the City of Boston's long-term transportation plan, Go Boston 2030, is increasing safety on our streets. We are working toward Vision Zero: eliminating fatal and serious traffic crashes by 2030. In the City of Boston's proposed operating budget and capital plan, Mayor Walsh is dedicating even more resources to make our streets safer for everyone using them. Under his leadership, we're proposing the following additions to the Boston Transportation Department:

Two new transportation planners and two new transportation engineers to focus on designing and implementing key Vision Zero street improvements

Up to four new maintenance and operations personnel to ensure that infrastructure added to improve street safety, such as pedestrian delineators and flex posts, are kept in a state of good repair.

A new traffic signal engineer to manage and retune traffic signals to increase safety and reduce traffic congestion;

Two new traffic signal mechanics to keep signals working as designed; and

An increase of $700,000 to design and build high-quality bike infrastructure and new multi-use paths.

These proposed investments build on the existing investments we make in transportation safety as an everyday practice and through our major projects.

Our goal of eliminating serious and fatal traffic crashes cannot be accomplished without your help. Take the pledge to 'Just Drive' today.

Gina Fiandaca is the Commissioner of the Boston Transportation Department

COUNCIL Briefs

By Joseph Domelowicz, Jr.

Trio of transfer and appropriation requests approved by Council

The Everett City Council last week approved a transfer of $50,000 from the Budgetary Fund Balance (Free Cash) to the Treasurer/Collector's account to pay for higher than anticipated credit card usage fees from on line bill pay transactions by the general public.

Councilor Rosa DiFlorio asked Chief Financial Officer Eric Demas if the city could pass those costs onto the bill payer, and Demas said those costs could be passed on in the future, if the Council would like to do that.

"Past councilors were not in favor of doing that, I think that we were trying to get people to start paying their bills online, but it's time for us to revisit that and see if maybe it is something the Council would like us to do going forward."

Demas told the Council the City is currently being charged between 3-5 percent per credit card transaction online.

•$700,000 for renovations and retrofitting for Vocational school approved

The Council also voted to approve up to $700,000 in new appropriation for the retrofit of space within Everett

High School (EHS) to allow the School Department to pursue expanded vocational offerings at the school.

The authorization makes official the Council's support of a plan that was presented to the Council in April, which proposed expanding the current vocational offerings at EHS to expand opportunities and help serve more Everett students with the course of study they wish to pursue.

CFO Eric Demas noted the actual construction costs of the retrofit would be determined through a competitive bid process, which will take place in June.

•$849k transfer settles new police contract

On Monday, May 14, the City Council approved a transfer in the amount of $849,615 to settle retroactive payments to police officers for the recently settled police union contracts.

The retroactive payments will be awarded for both fiscal year 2017 and fiscal year 2018 for patrolmen and senior officers working during that time.

The transfer to the Salaries account was made from the Budgetary Fund balance (Free Cash).

State Rep. candidate Gerly Adrien knocks on 2,500 doors in Everett

Staff Report

Gerly Adrien, candidate for the Democratic primary for state representative, has completed knocking on 2,500 doors as of this past Sunday, May 21.

"When I decided to run for this seat, I said it was about our community. I want to meet and listen to everyone here in Everett. We make up this city, and we all have a voice. I am frankly tired of my opponents making false truths about the lack of work they are doing and am glad Everett is recognizing this as well," she said.

Adrien said she has decided that this would be a people powered campaign, focusing on meeting as many people in Everett and she has done so.

In knocking doors, Adrien noted that everyone was very welcoming. They admire her ability to be able to take this risk and commitment. She said many people are happy to know she has experience in Finance, working with budgets and deficits because they acknowledge that is what is missing. Adrien has six-plus years in Finance and Management, where she was able to decrease a $10 million deficit down to $100,000, raise hundreds of thousands of dollars, and meet fiscal goals.

Currently, Adrien is the finance and grants manager for Boston University Medical Center's Hematology and Oncology section, where she supports the researchers who are working to prevent and cure cancer, sickle cell, and blood-related diseases. Adrien is also a candidate for her MBA at Boston University, focusing on finance and health sector management.

In 2016, Adrien ran for state representative for the 28th Middlesex District as a first-time candidate with no name recognition and fell just 600 votes short of winning. She is running again to continue the fight to improve education, economic development and quality of life for the people of Everett.

"We need strong, new leadership, who will actually produce results and not just talk," she said. "I am proud to run for this seat because Everett needs a real leader who will take a stand for us, especially on our financial needs."

The Democratic primary election date is Tuesday, September 4. To reach Adrien, please call her at 617-835-8267 or email at gerly@gerlyadrien.com.

A SHORT STORY ABOUT GROWING UP WITH AN UNFAIR ADVANTAGE.

POLIO.

As one of the last American children to contract polio, Jeffrey Galpin grew up in a world of iron lungs and body casts, alone with his imagination. His story would be dramatic enough if it was just about his battle with this dreaded disease.

But Jeffrey Galpin did more than survive polio. He went on to a list of achievements in medical research—including being the principal investigator in applying the first gene therapy for HIV/AIDS.

Dr. Galpin actually credits his own incurable condition for giving him the focus that made him so passionate in his research. His story leaves us with two of the most contagious messages we know. Don't give up, and remember to give back. If Dr. Galpin's story inspires just one more person to make a difference, then its telling here has been well worth while.

403 Days: Encore Boston Harbor counting down to opening, ready to start ramping up hiring later this year

By Katy Rogers

The team from Encore Boston Harbor hosted its first community update meeting at the Connolly Center on Thursday evening since its re-branding in April.

John Tocco, executive director of Government Affairs and Community Relations, was pleased to speak to Everett citizens on behalf of Encore Boston Harbor for the first time.

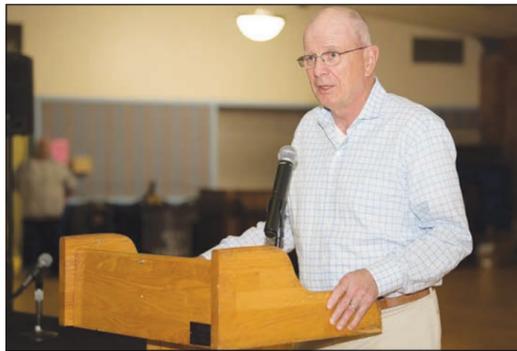

Tocco first apologized for any traffic inconveniences, but assured residents will be pleased with the end results.

Lower Broadway in Everett will soon be widened to accommodate additional traffic flow to the casino. Simultaneously, but out of Encore Boston Harbor's jurisdiction, the Alford Street bridge will be under construction and reduced to one lane, similar to its original reconstruction. While the timeline for the bridge is currently unclear, Tocco was assured it will be completed prior to the grand opening of Encore Boston Harbor. Residents were encouraged to stay updated on traffic flow by visiting WynnForAll.com.

Construction Director Peter Campot provided a detailed update on the progress of building the resort, showcasing photos and images depicting walls beginning to take shape within the steel structure. In addition to the physical developments, Campot proudly described that of the 1,500 construction workers, many of them from Everett.

"We have probably the largest female workforce on site, with over 100 women, and at least 150 veterans. We talk about how it takes a village, and we have a village working together," Campot said.

Campot proceeded to praise the quality of the workforce, explaining that those in charge of the final approval from Wynn resorts have been very impressed with the quality of construction, which is not limited to the visually enticing elements, and includes the structure, mechanical, and electrical features.

Brian Gullbrants, executive director of Operations, was introduced to the audience as a newcomer to the Encore Boston Harbor team. Gullbrants worked for Wynn resorts in Las Vegas for 10 years, providing a five-star experience to guests before transferring to Boston 10 months ago. He outlined the vision for the resort coming to Boston, including all the glitz and glamour.

"The first thing you're going to see is this huge, vaulted ceiling," Gullbrants said, reinforcing the many visual diagrams that were being projected on screen at the Connolly Center. "Popeye will kind of be the cherry on top, right in between the escalators."

The visual descriptions did not cease at the interior of the building. More than 900 trees are being planted around the resort under the guidance of Construction Director Peter Campot.

"I believe it will rival any garden, or any public garden close by," Gullbrants shared, as he captivated the audience. "You're looking at me like there's no way that's going to happen, but I'm telling you it's going to happen. Beautiful trees, beautiful gardens, and you to finish the picture."

In addition to the decor, approximately a dozen restaurants and a night club are expected to be included within Encore Boston Harbor's walls, which are currently within the planning process.

Gullbrants proceeded to describe some of the 4,500 jobs that will come with the resort, which he emphasized will be prioritized to local residents.

"We have people to check you in and check you out, people to take care of your plans, concierge. Then you will walk into the casino and there will be people to assist you with slot machines, cocktails, dealers, and pit bosses," he said. "All of these positions will need to be filled with people such as yourselves, your neighbors, and people from your community."

Gullbrants further assured those in attendance that training for such career opportunities will be announced soon, and collaborations between local schools will provide residents with training opportunities to Wynn corporation standards. Gullbrants excitedly remarked that the resort would be in full operation and opening in 403 days as of the meeting.

To conclude the meeting, Jennie Peterson, in charge of recruitment, spoke of opportunities and career paths in greater detail.

"Part of the reason we are so thrilled to partner with Everett is to create career opportunities," Peterson said. "Over 4,500 individuals will staff our team in well over 400 job titles. Pretty much any job you can think of, we've got it."

Peterson proceeded to explain that Encore Boston Harbor is about career opportunities and advancement as opposed to simply applying for a job. She displayed diagrams sampling career paths, such as an entry level job in the culinary department leading to an executive chef position over a period of years.

Right now, Encore Boston Harbor is hiring management level team members for those experienced in the casino and hospitality business, in addition to a few entry level positions. By the end of 2018, approximately 100 new employees are expected to be added, but the mass hiring for the remaining jobs will occur in 2019.

"We're going to be launching a lot of marketing, and you'll hear more about the jobs. We're going to be advertising the gaming school that will be starting in September, and launch a completely new career website in June," Peterson explained, referring listeners to the online tools available now such as the Encore Boston Harbor talent network.

A satellite career center will be opening at Everett City Hall in June, where residents can visit to inquire about potential opportunities and learn how to prepare for them. This will allow inquiring minds to ask questions and learn how to prepare for such opportunities as they become available. A similar career center will open at Station Landing later in the summer.

Encore Boston Harbor has made a smooth transition after its rebranding and looks forward to continue progress leading up to its grand opening in June of 2019.

SECOND ANNUAL SOLIDARITY FOR ALL 5K

The second annual Solidarity for All 5K took place on Sunday, May 20, starting at Glendale Park. The charitable run rotates causes that impact Everett residents, and this year, they donated to non-profit Strongbacks LDRC, a motorcycle group founded by John Whelan with a mission to assist young people pursuing careers in the trades. Proceeds will go towards a scholarship, which will be awarded to an ambitious Everett student with an interest in pursuing a trade specific career.

Sarah Alyson was the first woman to cross the finish line.

Patrick Affonso gave it all he had in the 10-13 age group in the Solidarity for All 5K.

School Committeeman Marcony Almeida-Barros and Christian Machado brought water to the finish line.

Tony Almeida was first across the finish line at Sunday's Solidarity for All 5K.

Bob Marra, running with the Cambridge Health Alliance, made his way towards the finish line while spectators cheered him on.

Tom Philbin of the Mayor's office and Chief Mazzie crossed the finish line at the Solidarity for All 5K on Sunday.

Larry Gamst joined Councilor Mike McLaughlin and Whittier School Principal David Brady for the Solidarity for All 5K on Sunday.

School Committeeman Frank Parker joined John Keenan of the Webster School for the run.

Alison Martinez, Amelia McNally, and Lara Antunes were ready to run for a good cause on Sunday.

OBITUARIES

Prospero Germano

Tailor and avid soccer fan who loved model trains and classical music

Prospero Germano of Malden, formerly of the North End, died on May 19.

Mr. Germano was a tailor for over 50 years, starting as an apprentice in his native Italy and continuing throughout the course of his life. He was also an avid Juventus soccer fan who enjoyed constructing and collecting model trains and listening to classical music.

He was the beloved husband of 58 years of Antonietta (D'Urso), father of Margaret Germano-Valdez and her husband, Victor of Malden, Valerie Germano of Malden, Karen Germano-Bilodeau and her husband, Paul, Jr. of Malden and the late Antonio. He is also survived by four grandchildren: Anthony, Sabrina, Antonia and Gianna and by many cousins, nieces and nephews from both Argentina and Italy.

His Funeral will be held from the Salvatore Rocco & Sons Funeral Home, 331 Main St., Everett on Tuesday, May 29 at 9 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass in the Sacred Heart Church, Malden at 10 a.m. Relatives and friends are kindly invited. Visiting hours will be Monday, May 28 from 4 to 8 p.m. In lieu of flowers, donations in Mr. Germano's memory may be made to the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, 501 St. Jude Place, Memphis, TN 38105. C. Robert 'Bob' Churchill

National Grid retiree National Grid retiree

C. Robert 'Bob' Churchill passed away Wednesday morning, May 16 surrounded by his loving family. He was 86 years old.

Born and raised in Chelsea, the son of the late Samuel and Ethel Mae (Garland) Churchill, Bob attended Chelsea public schools and graduated from Chelsea High School, Class of 1950. After high school, Bob began working for the former Boston Gas Company as a burner service technician. The company later became National Grid, where Bob became a service training instructor. He dedicated 39 years of service before retiring in 1991.

Bob was a veteran of the Massachusetts Army National Guard. He enlisted on December 3, 1947 and ended his service as a Sgt. E5, honorably discharged on December 2, 1957.

Bob and his wife lived in Everett for most of their lives, but later moved to Peabody. He was a lifelong member of the First Congregational Church in Chelsea, where as a teenager he met his wife, Winifred D. (King). They were married 65 years before her passing in December of 2017.

Bob was a late member of the Robert Lash Lodge A.F. & A.M., formerly in Chelsea and the Star of Bethlehem Lodge, A.F. & A.M. in Wakefield. As an avid golfer, Bob enjoyed his retirement on the fairway. He will be deeply missed by all who loved him.

He was the devoted father of Nancy Ellen DiMinico and her husband, Chris, Janet Elizabeth Herbert and her fiancé, John Vitale, all of Chelmsford; dear brother of Lloyd Churchill, Donald Churchill and his wife, Flora of Wilmington, M. Diane Maria of Revere, Elizabeth "Liz" Sheehan and her husband, Dan of Malden, Jean Smith of Revere and the late Richard Churchill and Eleanor McMurrer; brother-in-law of Lorraine Churchill of Revere and the late Joseph McMurrer. He is also lovingly survived by five grandchildren: Timothy, Christy and Lauren DiMinico, Katherine Herbert and Rachel Herbert, all of Chelmsford.

Funeral services will be conducted at the First Congregational Church, 26 County Road, Chelsea on Thursday, May 31 at 11 a.m. Relatives and friends are kindly invited to attend. Services will conclude with interment at Woodlawn Cemetery in Everett. Visiting hours will be held at the Carafa Family Funeral Home, 389 Washington Ave., Chelsea on Wednesday from 4 to 8 p.m.

Marie Ange 'Mary' Woods

Retired nurse

Marie Ange "Mary" (Lemieux) Woods of Everett, Warner, NH and Merrimack, NH died recently.

Mary was a graduate of Everett High School and the Cambridge City Hospital School of Nursing. She worked for many years in local hospitals, ending her long career as a visiting nurse.

She was the beloved wife of the late Joseph, mother of Paul Woods of Everett, Jeanne Marie "Jaymee" McCann and her husband, Gregory of New Hampshire and the late Michelle "Mimi" Agresti and her surviving husband, Carmine of East Boston; sister of Laurie Lemieux of Wakefield and Donald Lemieux and his wife, Carol of Virginia, Ellen Vancura and her husband, Frank of New Hampshire and the late Joseph "Ed" Lemieux. She is also survived by four grandchildren: Amanda, Kayla, Kerry and Brendan, one great granddaughter, Mia Michelle and by many nieces, nephews and her special friend and companion, Pat Moss.

Her Funeral will be held from the Salvatore Rocco & Sons Funeral Home, 331 Main St., Everett today, Wednesday, May 23 at 8:45 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass in the Immaculate Conception Church, Malden at 10 a.m. Relatives and friends are kindly invited. DEPARTMENT MALDEN DIVISION MIDDLESEX, ss.
DOCKET NO. 1750CV893
TRUSTEES OF THE BRITNEY PLACE CONDOMINIUM TRUST, Plaintiffs vs. QIAN WANG, Defendant
To the above-named Defendant, QIAN WANG: Whereas a civil action has been filed against you in our District Court, within and for the county of Middlesex, by Trustees of the Britney Place Condominium Trust And whereas it appears from the officer's return on process issued therein that after diligent search he can find no one upon whom he can lawfully make service, and after hearing it is ORDERED by the Court that the following summons issue for service upon you in the Everett Independent for three consecutive weeks: You are hereby summoned and required to serve upon Pamela M. Jonah, Esquire, Plaintiff's attorney, whose address is 45 Braintree Hill Office Park, Suite 107, Braintree, MA 02184, a copy of your answer to the complaint which is herewith served upon you, within 20 days after service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service. You are also required to file your answer to the complaint in the Office of the Clerk of this Court either before service upon plaintiff's attorney, or within 5 days thereafter. If you fail to meet the above requirements, judgment by default may be rendered against you for the relief demanded in the complaint. Unless otherwise provided by Rule 13(a), your answer must state as a counter-claim any claim which you may have against the plaintiff which arises out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the plaintiff's claim or you will be barred from making such claim in any other action. WITNESS Hon. Cathleen E. Campbell at Malden the 11th day of April, 2018.
